

Sandra Steingraber calls on everyone to do something big and heroic: "We can stop fracking. It can be stopped and it must be stopped."

Dr. Sandra Steingraber, ecologist, cancer survivor and acclaimed author, speaking around the country on cancer and its environmental risks, made this statement at a symposium in September opposing fracking in the Finger Lakes region of New York.

It will be our mantra for 2012.

Listen to Steingraber's magnificent, inspiring talk about fracking and its known damages to our health and environment:
